LEADERSHIP FOR THE GREATER GOOD

A Textbook for Leaders

Dan R. Ebener and Borna Jalšenjak

The authors have written a textbook devoted specifically to the activity of leadership, with a focus on how it can be practiced by those with or without authority. Ultimately, its aim is to change the way people lead and manage.

Part One challenges the reader to consider how leadership has evolved into the twenty-first century. No longer a matter of telling industrial workers what to do, leadership is a voluntary, interactive process that moves organizations toward adaptive change. It demands influential tactics that are less coercive and more engaging.

Part Two reviews historic "leadership" theories to put them into a twenty-first century context.

Part Three presents skills that are most needed for the practice of leadership in the twenty-first century, including dialogical skills, emotional intelligence, leading adaptive change, conflict skills, and strategic planning.

Dr. Dan R. Ebener teaches full-time in the Master of Organizational Leadership (MOL) program at St. Ambrose University in Davenport, Iowa, and is owner of Quad City Leadership Consulting.

Dr. Borna Jalšenjak is a senior lecturer at Luxembourg School of Business and at Zagreb School of Economics and Management, where he teaches courses in business ethics and leadership.
